Read the text carefully, and then decide whether the following statements are TRUE (T) or False (F). (1 pt)

Although people's reactions to your dress will vary, they will draw conclusions about you based on the way you dress. You need to determine what are you trying to say and then dress appropriately.

There are times when it is in your best interest to meet the expectations of others. Business managers are likely to have a clear idea of the images they want their businesses to portray. If you want to prosper with those businesses, you will want to dress in a way that is in line with those images. Likewise, audience expect public speakers to dress appropriately for the audience and occasion. People have the right to their individual differences, and we believe that society is moving in the right direction in allowing persons to express themselves as individuals. Nevertheless, your clothes are still perceived by others as clues to your attitudes and behaviours.

T	F
		32. People will have an opinion of you because of the way you dress.
		33. Public speakers are expected to dress fashionably.
		34. People now don't have the right to express their individual differences.
		35. People still perceive your clothes as clues to your attitudes and behaviours.
